WHO WE ARE

As a part of the Department of Communication Sciences and Disorders, we provide comprehensive diagnostic services, treatment and education regarding speech, language and feeding in children and adults in the Stillwater and surrounding communities.

In addition to providing excellent care, our clinic serves as a training and observation site for students who plan to pursue degrees in audiology and speech-language pathology.

Referrals

Referrals for an evaluation or treatment may come from the patient, the patient's parent or guardian, a physician, psychologist, teacher, or other healthcare professional or agency.

Fees

The OSU Speech-Language-Hearing Clinic is committed to providing quality speech, language, and hearing services, regardless of your ability to pay. We accept Medicare and SoonerCare payment with a referral from your primary care physician, and as a courtesy to our patients, will bill your insurance company. If you do not have insurance and cannot afford the regular cost of services, we will be happy to apply a very generous sliding scale that is based on income and the number in your family.
